Black or Cow Peas. The use of the Cow Peas for green manure is rapidly becoming very general for summer sowing, supplanting clover to some extent. It has a decided advantage over clover, in that it takes but little more than three months to make the crop, and may be turned in in time to put in any of the Fall crops. Sow broadcast in May or June, one bushel or more per acre. As price is variable, we would be pleased to quote lowest market prices at any time.
